Commissioners to Report on Arena Tenders

MATTER WILL GO UP BEFORE CITY COUNCIL

Three Tenders Submitted on One, Two and Three-Year Contracts

Decision to refer the tenders for the operation of the arena to the city council was made at a meeting of the city commissioners last Tuesday afternoon. Considerable controversy took place over the matter, and the committee was of the opinion that in the best interests of the city, the matter should be referred back to a report which will be laid before the council at its next meeting.

The three tenders submitted were on a basis of one, two and three-year contracts as follows: 1931 to 1932; 1932 to 1933; 1933 to 1934.

On this basis, amounts of tenders submitted were as follows: Angus Crockett, $12,000; J. S. Adams, $12,000; Messrs. Grove, Collingwood and Powers, $10,000; J. S. Adams, $10,000; Messrs. Campbell and Stanley, $12,500; $12,500. In connection with this tender, it was explained that a further $2500 would be required to cover the three-year period.

TECHNICAL ADVICE

Those frequent advisers of a technical nature with regard to the arena, Messrs. A. W. Hadow, city engineer, pointed out that the tenders should be the only ones who met the conditions of the arena's office, later than 12 o'clock noon, October 3, with an amount of $1000. Messrs. Grove, Collingwood and Powers submitted a tender for the operation of the arena, and Messrs. Campbell and Stanley were not received until Oct. 6 and the arena until Oct. 6.

However, Hadow explained in connection with the last tender that the tenders had been considered by the commissioners, although it had not been received the date required, owing to restrictive circumstances.

Supt. Hadow also recommended that Mr. Crockett's tender be accepted for the season 1931-1932.

Speaking to his tender, Mr. Crockett informed the committee that he had heard the arena for the past two years and had offered considerable in the promotion of junior hockey, charging only $5 an hour for services. He had operated the arena for two years and after all expenses had been paid had received a profit of $1000. "However, this year I am not making a profit," he said.

Charles Campbell, on behalf of Messrs. Stanley and himself, declared that what success had been received by hockey here was attributable to the measure to be personally interested, and that he had made considerable money in the last two years, even journeying as far as Winnipeg to operate the arena.

WOULD EMPLOY CROCKETT

He further stated that he, Mr. Stanley, if permitted to lease the arena, would be willing to make an arrangement with Mr. Crockett whereby the latter would be employed and paid for the equipment which he had used in the arena.

For the past few seasons the arena has not been operated at a profit. Mr. Campbell explained that in 1929 the Edmonton Exhibition board had given the lease to Harry Douglas at a figure of $2000. The lease had been given for $7000 on the operation of the rink, and owing to the fact that he was away from the city and unable to personally manage the arena, an assignment was made, the rink later being leased by the Hockey Park Co. Ltd., in the operation of the arena, Mr. Campbell.

The new company paid only $1500 of the leased price of $2200, while over $800 was owing to the city for utility service. The rink had cost about $600 by a personal contribution by Mr. Campbell of some $200.

A loss of approximately $800 had been suffered by Hockey Park Co. Ltd., in the operation of the arena, said Mr. Campbell.

Supt. Hadow suggested to the committee that it might be advisable for the city to have a plan for the operation of the rink, and that it might be similar to the arena in every respect in the downtown district by another group, then the arena will prove to be a "white elephant" altogether, Mr. Hadow warned.

In making the report to council, city commissioners will consider the matter of staging sports in the arena on Sundays.

ed the Mayoral candidate, took the platform amid a salvo of applause. He stressed the trying times of the municipal and university conditions constantly cropping up.

MORE CAREFUL THINKING

People today were thinking more carefully perhaps, than in prosperous times.

Had as this year had been, he felt that the next six months would be very tough. It was not Labor's day to dodge responsibility. People today were not so much concerned with the desire of Mayor Douglas and the U.S.A. representatives, as with the solution that could be offered to the relief, then the depression would be relieved.

Only one-quarter of the population was out of work. With a five-day week and a six-hour day employer would be spread around and all would be given a chance.

by the party in the advocacy of the "labor" cause.

But this very probable would be found necessary, Mr. King had said. He was convinced the rank and file of the Liberal party would rally to his cause, create a national organization worthy of the name—and one that would result in relief to the people.

Talking to a large crowd of "the unemployed" and "the unemployed" from London and western Ontario, Mr. King went exhaustively into the history of Benham's, especially as it affected his generation.

He touched on two subjects only—Benham's and party organization.

The Grand Theatre, room of the meeting, was jammed to the rafters, an overflowed meeting was organized under the hall and family to accommodate the hundreds of people unable to enter either hall, and speakers were installed out in the street.

Speeches were pronounced and Mr. King did not go down as a long address. He wasted few words and did not give details of the lack of party organization. He used three words to describe the national office in Ottawa, "one newspaper where all is in arrears and an empty office, the rest of which is over."

SWITCH BURDEN

Large campaign funds might be secured by creating and maintenance of an up-to-date voter list, suggested Mr. King. This would make it necessary for parties to bear most of the cost of compiling and revising lists. It would switch the burden from the parties to the state. He also advocated consideration of some measure of compulsory voting, and a Dominion Act under which it would be possible to investigate campaign spending when wrong-doing was suspected.

In defending his government's actions in appointing the navigation plan, Mr. King said that the navigation leader said emphatically that had no connection with the navigation plan, the party's campaign chief, life two were separate matters. "No contribution came from Benham's for a contribution and a third afterward," he asserted, replying to the statement that he had no knowledge of the source of campaign funds.

MAINLY POLITICAL

The parliamentary Benham's in quality, and the former Prime Minister, was "mainly if not wholly political." It was supposed as soon as evidence of campaign fund contributions had been called against the Liberals, in reality he believed the subject only would be raised and for this reason he suggested a royal commission to determine where the money should be a subject of further proof; the Central Canada Company's latest was number, and the contract between Benham's and the Ontario Electric Commission was a point.

The inquiry, charged Mr. King, had been held with the sole purpose of discrediting the Liberal party and suggested a subsidiary motive that they were made by financial and political forces to gain power of the minority.

They Take Your Shirt, But OH, THEY'RE WILD IN PEACE RIVER

Not Your Money, 'Tis Said

Collier round, measures, and read this harrowing tale of the great open spaces of the Peace River district, where they don't know what money looks like, and where you take on the trusty old forty-piece and hang over a couple of dollars, and you want to go on trading for himself and his family and his other cattle foods from the outside.

Here's the story. It appeared in the Montreal Daily Star of October 15, under a two column lead reading "Traveler Finds Money is Unknow in Peace River Territory."

And you'll note that the letter of the tale preferred to remain innocuous. There's a reason. But on to the tale. Here it is:

"Take of a land where money is as practically as in us, and where the best way of buying anything is to take your shirt off and trade it for what you want, were told this morning by a visitor at the City Hall, a relative of one of the aidmen who preferred to maintain his innocence. He has just returned from the Peace River country."

"Practically no money is used among the pioneers in that recently opened country," he stated. On several occasions, wanting to buy anything from food to gasoline, he found it necessary to trade articles of wearing apparel to get them. On one occasion he took off a shirt which he found somewhat too small for him, and bartered it in a village hotel for his night's board. On many occasions he made purchases by trading duck and trading them at the first village he came to.

"On one occasion he spent a night paying debts with a policeman and a third party, with whom he spent a pleasant evening. Next morning he asked the policeman whether his friend had gone to bed, and was informed he had been taken away early in the morning, on the next day of a journey to the nearest big town, where he would be tried for murder. He had knocked a neighbor dead with an axe some time previously."

"The traveler found the Peace River abundantly rich and full of possibilities, but feared that the farmers there were not getting on sufficiently for married families. They even were using condensed milk and thinned vegetables, rather than raise their own cows and vegetables in many districts."

which had been refused by Premier Bennett, the Liberal Mr. King asked if this were the only contribution received. He suggested that the reason for its refusal was that Mr. Bennett had not taken away early in the morning, on the next day of a journey to the nearest big town, where he would be tried for murder. He had knocked a neighbor dead with an axe some time previously.

THE NEW MONEY GRADES

OTTAWA, Oct. 20.—The Ottawa public are showing a special interest in the attractive appearance and convenient identification of quality which is made possible by the new money grades, which come into effect this year. The Canadian standards for money provide a natural classification by color into the four classes "white," "green," "yellow" and "dark." These classes in turn are graded strictly on the quality, "bright," "clean," or "manufactured."

Norfolk, Burt and Kent, chief loan-cooperating countries in Ontario, planted over 40,000 acres to this year, and the crop in Norfolk alone was estimated at 25,000,000 pounds.

METHODS SCORED

He scored methods of the city council in passing $12,500 in estimated while one hour and a quarter in discussing it, and a quarter in passing it. He was glad to note that not one Labor man had prolonged the discussion.

C. Lionel Gibbs lauded the selection of candidates.

He hoped that the rank and file would support the leaders in their effort to add in enjoining their feeling opponents.

W. H. Miller urged the adoption of a no compromise policy. They had been wasting money and wandering around in the wilderness long enough. They must pursue their ideals or the face oblivion.
